Task Review: You did great on your first task: there are certain things I took note of which might affect you later on as regards how you write code and the use of functions to optimize some of your tasks, I will discuss later when you turn in the final task, for now do the following below:

I want to test your plotting skills:

The charts below were plotted from the same data set, your job is to replicate each one and send it to me in one pdf.
